Dear Josh,

Of course anything published may be republished. But I think I should be asked for permission by would-be publishers formally and previously; and be paid some royalties. There are now three paper-back reprints about which I have not heard a word, let alone seen a dollar. Of course (repeat) I trust you with my affairs.

Your two reviews are good. Thank you. But what does "from Dronamraju mean on the top of the second sheet. My secretary assures me it came from you, and from the form it seems to be your authorship.

The English establishment reviews took every word of Clark for gospel (are the Gospels any more accurate). The scientists are beginning to muscle in. Herrah! I suspect Josh, that he still has the laugh on you, Marxism and Hinduism can't both be dirty words.

Did I felicitate you on your marriage, and your stepson.
I hope you are very happy.

Yours
